

Professor Eric Brunner

Emeritus Professor of Epidemiology and Health
Institute of Epidemiology and Health Care
University College London

Biography

Eric Brunner is Emeritus Professor of Epidemiology and Health at University College London Institute of Epidemiology and Health Care. He was a principal investigator on the Whitehall II study. He has just completed a four-year project funded by the UK Economic & Social Research Council and National Natural Science Foundation of China titled “UK-China Health and Social Challenges Ageing Project”. He has published more than 400 research papers and book chapters (google scholar 2 October 2024: 159,587 citations, h-index 129) in the fields of social inequalities in health, ageing and health. His most recent book is Health in Japan: social epidemiology of Japan since the 1964 Tokyo Olympics (OUP, 2021) Eds Brunner, Cable and Iso.