

Sam Bresnick

Research Fellow

Center for Security and Emerging Technology

Georgetown University

Biography

Sam Bresnick is a Research Fellow at Center for Security and Emerging Technology (CSET), Georgetown University focused on AI applications and Chinese technology policy. Previously, he was a Senior Research Analyst at Carnegie China, where he conducted research on U.S.-China relations, Chinese foreign policy, and East Asian security and economic issues. Sam's analysis and commentary have appeared in Foreign Policy, Wired, The Economist, and Politico, among other outlets. Prior to joining Carnegie, Sam worked as a journalist in Colombo, Sri Lanka and as a teacher in Chiang Mai, Thailand. He holds an AB in Comparative Literature from Brown University and an MA in Asian Studies from Georgetown's Walsh School of Foreign Service. He is currently pursuing a JD at the Georgetown University Law Center.