

Professor Wenying Chen
Professor
Deputy Director of the Institute of Energy, Environment and Economy
Tsinghua University

Wenying Chen is the Professor and Deputy Director of the Institute of Energy, Environment and Economy, Tsinghua University. Her research activities focus on Energy system modelling and carbon mitigation. She has published more than 150 papers in scientific journals such as Nature Sustainability, Nature Communications and etc. She was the coordinating lead author for China's second to fifth National Assessment Report on Climate Change. She also serves as the Review Editor for the fifth and sixth IPCC Assessment Reports.