

Xiaojie SHEN
PhD Candidate of Sociology
Peking University

Xiaojie Shen is a Ph.D. candidate in Sociology at Peking University, affiliated with the Center for Social Research, Guanghua School of Management. He received his B.A. in Public Affairs Management from Renmin University of China. His research focuses on family demography and social stratification, with particular attention to how family behaviors shape and reproduce inequality over the life course. His work has appeared in China Population and Development Studies, Population Research (Chinese), and Chinese Journal of Population Science (Chinese), among other outlets.