

Nanxun Agnes Li
Research Assistant Professor
Research Hub of Population Studies, Faculty of Social Sciences
The University of Hong Kong

Nanxun (Agnes) Li is a Research Assistant Professor at the Research Hub of Population Studies at The University of Hong Kong. Her research interests include fatherhood, parenting, child development, and population studies. She received her Ph.D. in Sociology from the National University of Singapore (NUS) in 2023. Prior to joining HKU, she held research appointments as a Research Fellow at the NUS Yong Loo Lin School of Medicine and as a Scientist at the Institute for Human Development and Potential, Agency for Science, Technology and Research (A*STAR IHDP). She has extensive experience in early childhood development research and was a core member of the Singapore Longitudinal Early Development Study (SG-LEADS). Her research has been published in journals such as the Journal of Marriage and Family, Social Indicators Research, and Social Policy and Society.